

Won't be long before the hunting season arrives. Dates on snipe, woodcock, rails and gallinules have been set by the Louisiana Game and Fish and Game Commission, as follows for 1934-35.

Dove hunting in Louisiana will be allowed in three separate periods. The first period will run Sept. 3 at noon and extend through Sept. 20.

The second part of the dove season in Louisiana will be from noon Oct. 7 through Nov. 8.

The third and final part of the season on doves will extend from noon Dec. 5 through Jan. 4. The total number of days allowed for dove hunting is 70. Daily shooting hours are limited to afternoon only from 12 noon until sunset. Bag limits are 12 daily and 24 possession.

The season on rails and gallinules will open Oct. 3 and run for 28 consecutive days through Nov. 21. Bag limit daily on rails and gallinules is 15 and 30 singly in the aggregate on all species.

Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset. The woodcock season will consist of 50 consecutive days starting Nov. 28 and running through Jan. 14. Daily bag limit is 10 and the possession limit is 100.

Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset.

Snipe hunting will consist of 50 consecutive full days, starting on Thanksgiving Day and extending through Jan. 14, running consecutive with the woodcock season.

The daily bag limit is eight, with a possession limit of 18 snipe.

We are giving this information because there are a lot of out-local hunters who hunt in Louisisary for Mississippi hunters to have a Louisiana non-resident license.

It was interesting to read the article in the Times-Picayune of July 16 regarding Pearlington Miss., practically a ghost town for 60 years which is now coming back to life with the building of the Mississippi Test Site Operations which it adjoins on the South. We have hunted and fished in this section for years and both the water and soil are full of game and fish. Pearlington's population has increased from 500 to about 1300 in the past year. The town is on the east bank of East-Pearl River where local fishermen can fish both sides of the Pearl with either a Miss. or Louisiana license, providing the water is good. Skiffs can be rented on the west bank where Louisiana hunting and fishing licenses can be secured. Around Pearlington both fresh and salt water fishing is good the year round, especially green trout and perch.

We were sorry to hear last week of the death of Professor S.
J. Ingram. "SI" as he was known by most of his friends was a real hunter and fisherman, gentleman, and scholar and loved the outdoors.

ed through this medium.

HUNTSVILLE, ALA.—Looking beyond the time when American astronauts will have landed on the moon, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced today that its Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala. has negotiated 29 contracts for studies of advanced manned missions.

The 29 studies, as well as two more still being negotiated and a third to be negotiated soon, will cover the subjects of vehicle development, each orbital operations and lunar and planetary explorations.

One of the information gathered by the studies, NASA will determine what manned space programs after Apollo (as the Moon mission is called) must effectively meet urgent national needs. In addition, the work will enable NASA to plan the best use of scientific and engineering talent.

Of the 29 study contracts, 17 are on launch vehicle contracts, including two studying improvements of Saturn IB. Chrysler Corporation ($170,000) will consider aspects of a liquid propellant first stage with "boost assist." SEPARATION BY SEX BILL

JACKSON, MISS.,—The Mississippi House sent to the Senate this week a bill authorizing the state to segregate its public schools by sex when desirable. A similar measure died in a Senate committee earlier.

The bill won 89-0 passage in the House Tuesday.

Rep. J. P. Love of Holmes County, chairman of the House education committee, told the House he felt the less said about the measure the better and it passed after no explanation or debate.

The bill was introduced after federal courts ordered several Mississippi school systems to desegregate beginning this fall.

Some lawmakers have said "separately but equal" that the schools are to be mixed in schools, they felt it better to separate girls and boys.

The operation, held July 10-17 under simulated battle conditions, is designed to test the Pacific Fleet's combat readiness in strike anti-aircraft and anti-submarine maneuvers.

Both "friendly" and opposing forces will have carrier striking forces as well as support forces.

Operations of this type are conducted periodically to increase the combat readiness of Pacific Fleet units.

THE HALF WAY POINT FOR FARMERS

With the battle against weeds and grass virtually won, efforts will be concentrated on another group of robbers - cotton insects. This might be called the battle down the home stretch. In waging the war, there at least two driving incentives. First of all, much has already been invested in good seed, adequate fertilizer, and herbicides with accompanying equipment. However, the fact that the farmers can look upon their handiwork and find satisfaction that so many have done well will, perhaps, furnish most of the incentive to complete the job. So generally speaking along the half-way point, it's well.

Mississippi Shrimp Season Very Poor

Mississippi's brown shrimp season, which opened late this year, has produced small catches mixed with an unusually large amount of small trash fish.

This has been reported by William J. Demoran, marine biologist for the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

"From the opening date of the season to the present time, shrimp activity has been unusually slow," Demoran stated in a report to the commission.

"If the catches of brown shrimp do not increase within the next two or three weeks, then we might have this year off as a bad season," he added.

Demoran noted that at least two factors are in existence in the Gulf States, Louisiana and Alabama, which may be contributing to the poor shrimp production in the Mississippi.

"The water will increase, and the shrimp will increase," he added.

Demoran further noted that at least two factors are in existence in the Gulf States, Louisiana and Alabama, which may be contributing to the poor shrimp production in the Mississippi.

"The water will increase, and the shrimp will increase," he added.

TO LANDOWNERS

WASHINGTON - Senator John Stennis urged the U. S. Engineers to "move ahead with sure and certain speed to settle the most fair and equitable manner possible" their negotiations with landowners in the Mississippi rocket engine testing site in South Mississippi.

"I have urged the Corps of Engineers, who are on the site in Pearl River and Hancock counties as agents for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, to move ahead with their settlements on the remaining contested land tracts," Stennis said.

Stennis, a member of the Senate Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee, won assurance from the Engineers that "within a month or so" they will have completed most of their land settlements, and those remaining would then be handled through proper court action.

Stennis noted that "virtually all" of the 13,500 acres within the test site itself has already been purchased outright by the federal government.

"The delay comes from the huge buffer zone surrounding the smaller interior testing site," Stennis said.

He noted that 466 of the 3,190 tracts of land in the buffer zone still has not been settled between the landowner and the federal government.

"These landowners are entitled to the full and fair value of their property," Stennis said, "and if it takes a court proceeding for them to get full market value, then I urge that this move be made at once. This will, in the first place, protect the land owner and in the second place move ahead with needed action on this vast project for our space program."

Stennis explained that in those cases where it is obvious that a settlement cannot be reached between the federal government and the landowner, then the federal government is required to pay into the court its appraised value of the land when the suit is filed.

A substantial portion of this amount, or all, could be paid to the landowner while the suit was still pending, upon the application filed with the Court and with the approval of the Court, subject to adjustment of the payment when final settlement is made or the final order of the Court entered.

Announcement of plans for construction of the rocket engine testing site in Mississippi were made in the Fall of 1961. Nearly three years have passed since that time, and land negotiations have not been completed.

Stennis emphasized that his conference with the Engineers aimed at protection of the landowner by assuring him of a "full and fair market value of his property" at the earliest possible time.

THE ACCIDENT REPORT

The Accident Report Division of the Mississippi Highway Safety Council today released a summary of the accident statistics for the Fourth of July holiday. During the 4-day holiday period in 1963 there were a total of 11 deaths reported from highway fatalities. There were 8 on state and federal highways, 2 on county roads, and 1 on city streets.

For the 3-day holiday period this year there were only 4 deaths reported. The breakdown on this figure shows 3 on state and federal highways, 1 on county roads, and 0 on city streets.

According to the Mississippi Highway Safety Council, the reduction in traffic fatalities as opposed to the trend nationwide toward a sizeable increase. Mississippi is rated number three in reduction of traffic fatalities in the continental U. S. at the end of April, the last month for which figures are complete for the nation. Mississippi showed an 11% reduction over the same period last year.

Our continued implementation of "selective enforcement" technique we feel is responsible in the main for this reduction. Every driver in Mississippi can well feel pride for his part in this accomplishment.
